

Patriot: While you agree that these weapons should never be used, you realise that if it became public knowledge your government was producing chemical weapons there would be international scandal. You feel the best course of action is sabotage and destruction of evidence.

Truthful: You believe you need to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, no matter how ugly that truth may be. You are an honest idealist, but you also find it hard to lie when wearing disguises for your job.

Activist: Even if you get the evidence and prove that your government is producing chemical weapons and get the truth out there, you worry that these weapons may be used regardless. You feel the best course of action is to both sabotage the weapons *and* get the truth out there.

Workaholic: Your job takes up most of your waking hours. What you do defines who you are as a person. You love it, but you also realise this means your co-workers are your only real friends. You are loyal to your friends.

Broke: For one reason or another, you're short on funds. You can be swayed by money to compromise on your values and do things you normally wouldn't. You should figure out how and why you're short on funds and add it to your character sheet.